THE LOYAL LEGION

THE Loyal Labor Legion has been organized in New York City to press for the rights of the public and unorganized wage earners in labor disputes. The Legion stands for the open shop, the right of the public to be represented in labor controversies, the necessity of courts of arbitration with power to enforce their decrees, and the settlement of differences between employers and employes "without intervention by persons not personally affected by or direct parties to the matters in controversy."

It is significant that more than 90 per cent. of the membership of the new organization is composed of elected officials of American Federation of Labor trade unions. A committee has been appointed to inform unions throughout the country of the new principles endorsed by the organization, and to take measures for bringing all organized labor into line for their acceptance. The control of labor by Mr. Gompers and his radical lieutenants is threatened by the new movement, as is indicated by a preliminary statement given out by the head of the Legion as follows:

"The Loyal Labor Legion is fully sensible of the tremendous opposition that will be aroused by its action, and is prepared to make a most aggressive campaign against powerful influences in the American Federation of Labor. The Legion is convinced that the extremely offensive and militant attitude of numerous labor leaders is harmful to the cause of labor, that old time methods must be discarded as having outlived their usefulness, and that an entirely new system of handling disputes between wage earners and employers must be practiced.

"Labor's unenviable position to-day, with some 4,000,000 A. F. of L. members and 2,000,000 unorganized workers out of employment, of whom about 500,000 are idle in this city, is due in large part to the unwise leadership of men who ran amuck and called hundreds of strikes immediately following the war. When the greatest need was increased production, reckless labor leaders encouraged their followers to make impossible demands, compelling hundreds of plants to suspend operations.

"Organized labor needs a new birth. The doctrine of peace and prosperity must displace that of rule or ruin. New membership and new vision must enter the A. F. of L. from top to bottom, and principles and methods accepted that will bring peaceful agreement on reasonable bases rather than destructive warfare for unattainable demands."

SHIPMENTS BY TRUCK

ONE result of high freight rates in the West is to induce the shipment of live stock to market by truck. Recently 20 per cent. of a day's hog shipments to Omaha came by truck, and 50 per cent of sheep to St. Joseph markets were delivered in the same way. It is estimated that 1921 truck shipments will be more than 3,000,000 head of cattle, hogs and sheep. Of course all that means loss to the railroads, which, in turn, are helpless because of their inability to reduce freight rates in the face of exorbitant labor costs. Unless the roads are soon put on their feet by readjustment of wages commensurate with deflation that has taken place in other lines of industry, transportation by rail will have received a permanent set back through the development of auto truck lines.

AN EFFECTIVE CHECK

APPARENTLY the new immigration law is going to be an effective check to the swarms that have been landing at our ports. The putting of an arbitrary limit on the number of each nationality that shall be admitted in any one month is having the expected result. The steamship companies have no desire to return rejected immigrants, and they will be careful to see that no more are taken aboard in Europe than can be landed in America. Two days before the 1st of August several immigrant ships waited without the three-mile limit because they knew that their passengers were from countries whose July limit of acceptable immigration had been reached.

Hunger, The Best Sauce

Sauce is used to create an appetite or relish for the food. The right way is to look to your digestion. When you have good digestion you are certain to relish your food. Chamberlain's Tablets improve the digestion, create a healthy appetite and cause a gentle movement of the bowels.

Program for week beginning Aug. 22d

MONDAY, AUGUST 22d
A PARAMOUNT PICTURE Featuring
Thomas Meighan
—in—
William DeMille's Production
"Conrad in Quest of his Youth"

We who have yearned to turn back the years and live again glad youth as memory paints it. We who wistfully dream sometimes of old loves, old scenes, old careless, happy years of yesterday—Where shall we recapture the thrill of Life's Great Romance? When you've laughed and wept at this wonderful picture, you'll know! Pathe News. Burton Holmes Travel Pictures.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 23d
Dorothy Gish
—in—
"Flying Pat"

A gingery, jazzery, just wed romance that shoots high in the air and explodes with fun. For Hubby meant his bride to have a "career." So she started out with a dashing young captain to be the world's champ lady flyer. Then a wreck—a road house—a scandal—a runaway—a frantic spouse—a mysterious cook, and—Well, see it. Joe Ryan in "The Purple Riders." Rolan comedy.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 24th
A PARAMOUNT SPECIAL Featuring
George Melford's Production
"Behold My Wife!"

The great applause picture of the new season with Milton Sills, Elliott Dexter, Helen Dunbar and ten other stars. It is the highest priced picture we have had this month. The story is laid in Canada, the land of trading posts and snow, where a man must meet the test. One of the finest pictures of the year. You will have to see it to appreciate this picture. Star comedy. Fox News. Prices 39c and 17c.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 25th
VITAGRAPH COR. Presents
Catherine Calvert
and an All-Star Cast
—in—
"The Heart of Maryland"

Now all ye from Maryland who love your state should see "The Heart of Maryland." In this story he was condemned to die when the tower bell rang. The time had come. his enemies sprang to the bell rope. But a stout-hearted daughter of the south had beaten them. Up the shaking spiral stairway she climbed and as the bell swayed to the rope she had leaped and silenced its betraying tongue. Owing to our advanced price the night before, this picture will be run at our regular admission, 28c and 14c. Century comedy. Pathe News.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 26th
REALART COR. Presents
Alice Brady
—in—
"Little Italy"

A drama of elemental passions, gifted Alice Brady in her most exotic emotional role. This is without question the best yet of Alice Brady. Paramount Magazine. Mutt and Jeff. Ruth Roland in "The Avenging Arrow."

SATURDAY, AUGUST 27th
WILLIAM FOX Presents
Eileen Percy
—in—
"The Tom Boy"

The story of a small town girl with big town ideas. A good laugh is the best of tonic. Laughter makes far better health, both mental and physical. After seeing this picture you needn't take the medicine you intended to take on Saturday night. Sunshine comedy. Fox News.

When Trouble Threatens

It is a comforting thing, when trouble threatens, to know that you have money in the bank. The way to have money is to save it, regularly.

The Delaware Trust Company will welcome your deposits whether large or small, and will pay 4% interest.

Capital and Surplus of more than $2,000,000.00, coupled with conservative management and strict State supervision, make this institution the ideal depository for your funds.

Teaching Saving Pleasantly

Two things make the Kindergarten method so successful in teaching the young; 1st, "doing things," as shown last week; 2d, disguising work as play.

Twain's Tom Sawyer fooling his playmates into paying for the "fun" of whitewashing his fence, illustrates this.

So your lad or lass keeping a little account at THE PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK, turns Thrift into play and adds the zest of amusement to the practice of self-denial.

Why Curtis Building Plans Are So Valuable

THESE building plans of the Curtis Company represent the results of the long study and experience of the very foremost firm of Architects in this county who have reduced the building of house etc., to an exact science, saving in many ways materials and labor—both costly things.

These Curtis planned houses save coal in heating; are so conveniently arranged that they save the house-keeper many steps, much trouble and work—in one word, are a source of perpetual comfort and satisfaction to everybody—and, finally, these plans cost my patrons—nothing!

Hot Weather Diseases

Disorders of the bowels are extremely dangerous, particularly during the hot weather of the summer months, and in order to protect yourself and family against a sudden attack, get a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It can be depended upon. Many have testified to its excellence.

Same Old Story But a Good One

Mrs. Mahala Burns, Savanna, Mo., relates an experience, the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentary). I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles."

CATHERINE CALVERT

And an All-Star Cast in

"The Heart of Maryland"

If the Bell Clanged, Her Lover Would be a Target for Every Straight Shooting Sentinel!

If he failed to escape it meant—death! The open grave yawned before his eyes as he gazed through the bars of his little cell. He had been adjudged a spy—a northern officer, he had worn the disguise of a cloak of Confederate gray.

It was sure death to wait—it was only probable death to take the last desperate chance—and he took it! A quick play of wit and agility, and he was past the guards. And then he waited for the brazen tongue of the bell to give voice. It meant his funeral knell—it would make him a target for every straight-shooting sentinel.

His enemies sprang to the bell-rope. But a stout-hearted daughter of the South had beaten them. Up the shaking spiral stairway she climbed, and as the bell swayed to the rope she had leaped and silenced its betraying tongue. Back and forth through the belfry window she was swung, but the thought of her lover's safety tightened her grasp.

This is one big scene in one of the biggest pictures ever made—"The Heart of Maryland," a Vitagraph super-feature. It's a Tom Terriss production. Catherine Calvert is the star. It was written by the world-famous David Belasco, and is one of the most appealing love stories ever penned. This picture will be a favorite for years, wherever heart-beats are quickened with the story of a man's courage and a woman's love.

Fordson

Put it to any Power Task

While the Fordson Tractor has power in plenty to drag plows and harrows through the heaviest soil, it is light enough, small enough and so easily controlled that it can handily be put to many tasks about the farm, that will save you time, money and work.

In fact the Fordson will do every power job, both draw-bar and belt, more quickly and at less cost than it can be done with any other form of power. So every month the whole year 'round the always dependable Fordson will prove itself a paying investment, because of its capabilities, its economy and efficiency.

We will gladly explain and demonstrate to you the many Fordson money-making, time-saving features. Call, write or phone.

Suit-Frocks and Others

JUDGING from the examples now on exhibition, of one-piece frocks for fall, we may prophesy a season in which these dresses will follow the lines of the natural figure. It would be more accurate to say that they adjust themselves to it easily and gracefully in a way that is flattering to all figures. Many of them are of the straight line type, showing a very slight definition of the waistline which they contrive to make a little long. Others have bodices bloused, over girdles, all around and still others are bloused at the front and hang straight at the back in the fashion of a "paletot," which extends below the waistline.

Box and side plaitings are making themselves very useful in one-piece frocks, both in suit-frocks like that at the left of the picture and in dresses that do not simulate a suit. Some of the smartest of the suit-frocks have jackets, capes or other wraps to match but this is the exception and not the rule. The model pictured here, of dark blue cloth, has its bodice faced with beige-colored crepe de chine and turned back to form a collar. It opens to the waistline over a high-necked vest of batiste, voile, net or other sheer wash fabric and has a narrow tie of black ribbon at the throat. Wide, black, cire ribbon is used for the girdle and groups of plaits at the sides break the straight lines of the skirt.

Several successful summer ideas are carrying over into fall and among them are long petal tunics as shown in the dress at the right. Four long petals rounded at the ends, are embroidered with a narrow band in a contrasting color and hung over a plain skirt. The embroidered band outlines the neck and finishes the sleeves. There is a vestee and a wide sash of crepe de chine which match the embroidery in color.

Fall Hats Follow Devious Ways

THE story of millinery for fall and winter is going to be interesting, not to say exciting. Its opening chapter, now being written in hats for early fall, is fascinating, introducing us to new arrivals in the realm of fabrics and trimmings, and intriguing us by the exhaustless ingenuity of designers. Starting with fabrics—duvetyn and similar cloths, satin, velvet, both plain and panne, are the old familiar favorites that make a foundation or a background for new kinds of brocade and new kinds of embroidery net; brocades that look like cut-out work, nets that look like metallic embroidery on heavy fabrics over which they are posed.

For trimmings, the designer looks to many things, beads of the bugle and seed varieties and larger wooden beads, soutache braid, narrow ribbons, feathers, silk embroidery and stitchery. And the public, it appears, puts a premium on originality in the use and combination of all these.

As may be gathered from the hats that appear in the group above, hats are far from simple, most of them artfully made by draping fabrics over frames, whose outlines are more or less definitely followed, crowns are soft, or at any rate soft looking, even in blocked shapes. A duvetyn hat at the upper left of the group is a good example, with a narrow braid that has the effect of embroidery, making an irregular scroll over it. A pin with a dangling head, studded with rhinestones, is thrust in the coronet at the right side. The lovely velvet hat at the right follows the lines of a similar shape more vaguely, and has rosettes of narrow cire ribbon set in a row at each side. The wide brimmed Breton sailor draped with duvetyn is faced with satin elaborated with braid. Beads and narrow ribbon cover the coronet of the round velvet turban, with a flower and leaf design. The felt shape, with overbrim, which may be either velvet or duvetyn, makes a fine background for the wreath of chenille flowers applied to its crown.

Stationery.

Bright colors in stationery are not good—so many of your letter writing friends, you'll find, are venting their love of the "different" in paper of extraordinary size. The envelopes are almost six inches square.

New Cape Line.

The newest type of cape follows Spanish lines and is not unlike the fringed Spanish shawl. The fringe is found in vast quantities and ingeniously knotted.

Small Hats.

The material for the moment for the small hat is toile de soleil—similar to the straw you have known as horsehair, only very much lighter in weight and more supple. It comes in colors.

For Summer.

A new fancy for the summer evening is the shawl of crepe de chine, crushed to incredible slenderness about the throat, crossed in back and draped loosely over the shoulders.

THE DRAPED HAT

Materials Used in Dresses Popular for Headgear.

Gingham and Linen and Dotted Swiss and Organdie Used for Summer Chapeaux.

There has been no sudden leap from shaped hats to draped hats, writes a correspondent. The change has been gradual, but the smartest thing that one can do in the way of headgear is to wear a hat that is made of something other than the long-accepted hat stuffs. The milliners used to say that this and that fabric would not "make up" well for hats, but now the feeling is that they stop at nothing when it comes to fashioning a hat out of some strange fabric never before used for that purpose.

Then there are hats of gingham and linen and dotted swiss and organdie—all of the materials, in fact, that are used for summer cotton dresses. Sometimes they are fitted to the shapes underlying them and at other times they choose to drape themselves about a smaller shape, forming deep folds and becoming twistings.

A fashion that has appeared in spots during the last few weeks is that of wearing a hat to match, in some way, the material of the gown. For instance, there was seen a tailored frock of dark blue linen inconspicuously trimmed and bound with white cotton braid and worn with a white mull blouse. Then there was worn with this a short-brimmed sailor made of the heavy linen fitted to the shape and trimmed with a broad scarf of white organdie, the freshness and crispness of which added largely to the generally cool look of the gown itself.

Most of the summer hats are large, for the simple reason that the heat and sun of the season really demand this sort of protection. And some of the sweetest of the really summery hats are made either of white or very lightly tinted organdie.

Should your cake or bread get scorched in the oven, try grating the burned parts off with a nutmeg grater.

SCARF FOR THE COOL NIGHTS

A scarf 72 inches long and 18 inches wide, of plaid brush wool in gray, copen, buff, peacock, navy, turquoise, white, black and heather, shown recently at a New York style exposition.

RIGHT SORT OF ACCESSORIES

Dainty Collar and Cuff Sets, Bright Sash or Perky Bow Will Do Wonders.

"She had on the smartest little waistcoat,' said a woman the other day in discussing the appearance of a friend she met during a morning's shopping, and she couldn't recall a thing about the suit with which the waistcoat was worn, except that it was "just a little plain dark suit of some sort." All of which helps to prove that accessories deserve all the prominence they have ever been accorded in the scheme of things sartorial.

A smart, exquisitely clean and dainty collar and cuff set may transform a suit or frock several seasons old into something quite up to the minute in style. And there is almost no limit to what may be done with a simple suit or frock of nondescript color and design in the way of transforming it into a swagger sports costume, if the right sort of accessories are chosen. A bright sash, a correct tie or a perky bow will do wonders.

TAFFETA HAS CHARM FOR ALL

Fabric Lends Itself to Many Uses for the Wearing Apparel of Milady.

One favorite way of developing a frock fashioned of taffeta material is making a quaint basque bodice and a tiered or scalloped skirt.

Fringes and uncut edgings have disappeared from view, and in their places—even at the beginning of summer—came ruchings of taffeta and queer little wheels and ornaments of lace edging, the latter frequently tinted to match the gown, and the ornamentation has gained in favor.

Speaking of elaboration, it may be interesting to notice that blossoms and leaves are made of chiffon velvet, taffeta and even organdie.

Shoulder Coming In.

The shoulders are coming in for a good deal of attention in the new frocks. Another thing is the deep bertha that hangs from the shoulders, sometimes from a straight off-the-shoulder line, to the waist. This is a feature of a good many frocks, of such soft fabric as voile, or such stiff fabric as organdie.

BEST WAY TO CLEAN RUGS

Mild Soap With Tepid Water Should Be Used When Floor Coverings Are Washed.

Rugs should be kept clean with a good carpet sweeper or electric vacuum cleaner, as the hard grits of sand will, if not removed, injure the nap. Do not sweep Wilton or Axminster rugs hard at first as the tufts are liable to loosen before they are pressed down by usage.

All Wilton and Axminster rugs are "sheered" when finished, consequently light fluff or loose wool will sweep out for some time. This is a feature of the fabric and not a defect.

Do not pull out any knots or tufts. Cut them off even with the surface of the rugs. The tufts in any domestic rug can be deliberately pulled out. This is due to the nature of the weave.

Protect your rugs from bright or strong sunlight, as all domestic rugs will fade some.

When washing is necessary, use mild soap, with tepid, not hot water, else the alkali of stronger cleansers will eat into the surface and destroy the color. Never flood the surface with water. It is best to wash about a yard at a time, rinse with clear water and let dry thoroughly.

Given a coat of varnish, linoleum survives a much longer period of wear. Before varnishing, make sure that the surface is free from grit or grease. Let varnish dry over night before walking on the floor.

Waxed linoleum is easier to clean with a dust mop. Dust and grease will not stick to it.—Detroit News.

FASHIONS IN BRIEF.

Smart suits are being made of black taffeta.

Small hats of black taffeta are edged with narrow ruching.

Swagger coats have high buttoned neck and narrow fitted shoulders.

Sand-colored foulard, figured in dark blue, makes an attractive street dress.

Large collars are no longer seen, but chin collars, which may be worn high at the neck or open, are much in evidence.

THE DIFFERENCE IN CLOTHES

Overdecoration Covers Up Defects That Are Not to Be Found In Plain Garments.

Present-day clothes may be criticized on the score of overdecoration. Not all of them, of course, but ready-made clothes are inclined to stagger under a weight of beading or embroidery or be overemphasized by too much zeal on the part of the designer.

Plain clothes are always the most expensive. The best dressmakers and tailors are those that devote their talents to achieving excellence of line and to using excellent materials. It is more difficult to make a well-cut line, which has no trimming to detract from its cut, than to make a really fancy gown. Every woman who has made things herself knows how much simpler it is to make evening frocks and fluffy afternoon things than it is to make plain good-looking street clothes.

Simplicity is the greatest possible luxury—it always comes high, but one beautifully cut and made gown of good material is worth half a dozen cheap ones, and it is the woman who selects her clothes on this premise who is considered a well-dressed woman.

No matter how attractive one's frocks and hats may be, if they are worn for inappropriate occasions, their charm is lost. One must always consider the occasion and it is an ill-advised woman who converts her best frock into a business one, unless it happens to be appropriate for business wear.

Renew Veils.

If your crepe veil is too wrinkly you can freshen it by holding it in both hands and passing it through the steam of the tea kettle spout several times.

Blown Glass.

Blown glass will be featured for fall and winter in fancy headdress. Jet and rhinestone incrustations will be good. The new way of making them is to paste the stones on wire frames so shaped that they may be adjusted to the head.

MR. BOWSER'S WITCHHAZEL

And Mrs. Bowser's Flying Machine.

By M. QUAD.

(©, 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

It was a day previous to Mrs. Bowser's birthday. There had come into Mr. Bowser's office, a sharp-featured, keen-looking man, who gave his name as Mr. Gordon. He was a practical chemist, and was connected with a wholesale drug manufacturer. He wanted to go in business for himself or with a partner who had money and energy. He had heard of Mr. Bowser and had called to talk business.

One of the great money-makers for the drug house, was witchhazel. It returned over 100 per cent profit. Mr. Gordon wanted to go into the manufacture of witchhazel. It would make a couple of men millionaires in five years. The world was not half supplied. The liquid was a dollar a pint and still going up. He had a talk with Mr. Bowser for two long hours, and he satisfied him that the opportunity of his life had come to him. It beat bookkeeping and pig-raising all to pieces.

At five o'clock Mr. Bowser started home, as usual. He was placid and satisfied with the world. He looked around him at the stores and offices, and calculated that he could buy them all, in two years. Two or three of his fellow passengers, on the car, stepped on his toes, and the conductor took fifty cents from him and forgot to make the change. Nothing irritated Mr. Bowser, however. He smiled, as he entered the hall of his house, and that smile warned Mrs. Bowser that he had something up his sleeve. She said nothing, however, and after dinner he suddenly began:

"Mrs. Bowser, do you know that tomorrow is your birthday?"

"Yes, I did not forget that," she replied.

"You have been a dear, good wife to me and I am glad that I have prepared a surprise for you. It isn't a necklace of diamonds or pearls, but that will come a little later."

"It was good of you to remember," she murmured.

"I have always remembered and always shall. You have stood by me as a true wife should. Let me ask you, if you know a liquid called witchhazel?"

"I think I do. We have kept it in the house ever since we were married."

"Yes, we have. It is a great thing know what it sells for at drug stores? It is one dollar a pint, my dear wife, and they make a profit of one hundred per cent. There is an increasing demand for it and it will probably go to a dollar and a half a pint."

"But what does all this talk mean?" asked Mrs. Bowser.

"It means, that I am going into the manufacture of witchhazel. I have already arranged with a chemist, and we shall begin the manufacture this fall. That is your birthday present, Mrs. Bowser. In one year from now I shall be financially fit to buy you a diamond necklace worth, at least, twenty-five thousand dollars."

"I Shall Begin to Gather."

"That will be nice of you, Mr. Bowser. But you must make your witchhazel out of roots and bushes."

"Of course, I know that. That is the easiest part of all. Mrs. Bowser, there is growing, along the roadside, in this state, enough witchhazel bushes to manufacture ten thousand gallons of the liquid. I am going to gather the roots and bushes for my part. Mr. Gordon will attend to the distillation and the putting up of the remedy in bottles. It is to be called 'Bowser's Witchhazel,' and that alone will sell a hundred thousand bottles every month. I shall begin to gather in the fall and it will be a play spell for me."

"But there is something I wish to tell you, Mr. Bowser," quietly observed Mrs. Bowser. "You hadn't said anything about my birthday, and I thought you might forget it, and so I bought my own present. That is, I have bought a present on the condition that you approve of it."

"Have you bought a new dress?" was asked.

"Oh, no. It is something more valuable than that. Mr. Bowser, I find myself a little lame with rheumatism."

"You should use Bowser's Witchhazel for that."

"Yes, that would be good, but I have something better. I am going to buy a flying machine."

"A flying machine! What the Old Harry do you want with a flying machine?"

"For practical use. It is quite an effort for me to go downtown shopping. We have no auto or carriage, and the street car is always crowded. How nice it would be if I could have a flying machine waiting at the door

"If I Wanted to Call on a Lady."

for me! I could step right into the machine and start the motor and go sailing right over the houses, and land at the door of a store. If I had any packages to bring with me, don't you see how handy the machine would be?"

"Not by a darned sight!" exploded Mr. Bowser.

"But you must see that, with the witchhazel and my flying machine, we should be nicely fixed. If I fell out of my machine and got bruised all over we would have the remedy right in the house to cure me. Remember, that is my birthday present, Mr. Bowser."

"I don't care a hang if it is—I am opposed to it! What do you know about flying machines?"

"Oh, I can learn to fly, can't I? I can get someone to give me lessons. I know a lady who owns one, and it didn't take her over a week to understand it. If she wants two pounds of butter or a dozen eggs she flies right over to the grocer, and saves a long walk and half an hour's time, and don't you see—"

"And I see that it is a most foolish thing!" interrupted the witchhazel manufacturer.

"I counted up the number of times I had to go up and down stairs," continued Mrs. Bowser. "It was twenty-three times in all, and I had four calls to pay, in addition. Just think, Mr. Bowser, of twenty-three times. If I had a flying machine I could fly up and downstairs and save me all that walking. If I wanted to call on a lady I would land on her front steps and ring the bell. If she was in, I would get out and hitch my flying machine to the doorknob; if she was not at home I would give the motor a poke and away we would go."

"Yes, you would go to Ballyhack! Mrs. Bowser, I won't hear another word about your flying machine. It is the maddest thing that ever a woman thought of!"

"But you have wanted one!" she protested."

"It makes no difference! I am not going to help you to commit suicide."

"But, don't you see, that if I pitch out you can cure me with your witchhazel? We shan't ever have to call a doctor."

"Flying machines be hanged! Doctors be hanged! There will be no foolish things brought into this house! I put my foot right down on that!"

While Mrs. Bowser was heaving a long sigh of pretended disappointment, Mr. Bowser got up and left the house and slammed the door behind him. He went over to the drug store and peered into the window. There were three men in there and he heard one of them say:

"There is old man Bowser looking in. I wonder if he hasn't got a scheme to make the sun shine for twenty-four hours without going to bed at all."

And Mr. Bowser quit peering and walked on. Mrs. Bowser wasn't to have any present on her birthday!

FOND OF THEIR "WEE NIPPIE"

Many of the Lower Animals Have a Pronounced Fondness for Intoxicating Liquor.

Although camels will go for many days without water, they are always ready to drink whisky, and have been known to prefer it to their usual beverage. The effect of strong drink upon lions is to render them quite tame. In 1899 there was a well-known racehorse which was regularly doped with whisky before the race, owing to its fainthearted nature. This practice led to many successes; but finally the day came when the jockey was utterly unable to make it go faster than an ordinary walk. After proceeding a few yards in this fashion, it leant against the railings, and subsided upon the course. "If I did my duty," said a nearby policeman, "I should run that hoss in for being drunk and incapable!" Dogs are perhaps the most abstemious of animals, but even they have been known to like the bottle. A doctor reports the case of a Skye terrier which suffered from distemper, and became so ill that port wine was administered three or four times every hour in order to save its life. After the dog recovered, his master found he had become a perfect dipsomaniac. Whenever there was port wine on the table, he would climb upon a chair in an endeavor to satisfy his craving. If you put whisky in pussy's milk, you would find her raise no violent objection. Cats, like other animals, behave in an extraordinary fashion when inebriated.

ONE-MAN ROAD GRADER PAYS

Profitable Plan for Farmers in Community to Get Together and Purchase Implement.

Once two teams of horses and at least two men used to be required to level and grade roads. Now we have the one-man machine, which does the job in half the time and never gets tired. Like all modern devices of this nature, it is, of course, driven by gasoline.

The single operator manipulates all the levers that control the cutting blades and also takes care of the engine. All the controls are placed at his elbow.

If you live in a community where it is the custom for each man to contribute his share of labor toward keeping the roads in condition, it will pay the men of the neighborhood to get together and purchase a one-man road grader and reduce the time and labor ordinarily necessary for this task.—Popular Science Monthly.

BETTER ROADS HELP BABIES

Farm Is Made More Accessible to Doctor and Nurse—Danger in Travel Is Reduced.

It may seem a long way from good roads to better babies, and yet the two are closely connected.

America has a great rural population, throughout which babies are being born every day.

These babies and their mothers need care, the visit of the nurse, the services of the physician, often of the surgeon, and how are they to have it if between lie miles of road impassable alike to automobile or buggy?

Of what use is the little hospital at the county seat if the woman whose life depends upon its care cannot be taken there swiftly and comfortably?

What difference does it make that the town physician may be a very wizard at treating diphtheria, if long before he can arrive at the farm the little throat has been closed by the deadly film, or the little heart stopped by the depressant poison?

Medical and surgical honors are generally claimed for the city—when as a matter of fact the country doctor is often possessed of a skill as complete as his heart is big.

Make the farm accessible to the doctor and nurse, make the hospital and the health center accessible to the farm. Nature and skill will do the rest.—Concord Monitor.

THIN ROADS ARE EXPENSIVE

Ordinary Rock Surface Under Motor Traffic Coming in Next Few Years.

MacAdam was years ahead of his age and years behind this one. The builders of the Appian Way knew more about building a road for a motortruck than MacAdam, strange as it may appear. It is the general opinion among road builders—an opinion greatly quickened and altered by the war—that the light stone road, be it surfaced or oil treated in what way you will, is not the road to build in the face of an avalanche of motortrucks that is coming in the next few years. The motorcar brought oil to the road as a necessity. The water bond, which worked so well with iron tires and iron shod hoofs, is useless against the suction of the pneumatic tire. But the oiled stone road that holds the 3,000-pound car with ease will not carry the five-ton truck—and last.

The railroad builders have found that for heavy traffic it pays to use the heaviest steel rails, the finest wood for ties and the best broken stone, and plenty of it, for ballast.

DAIRY

MILK DELIVERED TO CITIES

Figures Announced by Department of Agriculture on Total Cost to Ultimate Consumer.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The total cost of milk delivered to the consumer's door in Columbus, O., during the first six months of 1920, ranged from 11.3 cents up to 15.3 cents per quart, if the costs of one company which does business in "certified" milk are omitted, according to the figures recently announced by the United States Department of Agriculture. The cost of the raw milk delivered at the dairy ranged from 8.7 cents to 10 cents per quart. The total cost of operating the dairy plant, including the pasteurizing and bottling of the milk, ranged from 1 cent to 1.4 cents per quart, and the cost of delivering the milk from the dairy to the consumer ranged from 1.61 cents to 3.9 cents per quart.

The item of administrative expense varies widely, being as low as two-tenths of a cent per quart for one small company and as high as 1 cent per quart for a large concern.

Two of the seven companies covered were small concerns which produced their own milk supply. The cost of producing the milk for these companies in 1920 was 8.9 cents per quart, which is very similar to the price paid for milk by the larger concerns.

One of the items of cost which has attracted most attention among students of the milk business is the so-called "bottle loss." The department's study indicates that for the companies covered in Columbus this item ranges from one-tenth to two-tenths of a cent per quart.

Great difficulty was experienced in getting any satisfactory information concerning the shrinkage which takes place in the handling and delivery of milk, but according to the best data available this item amounts to between 2.3 per cent and 5.5 per cent of the total volume of milk.

Columbus is a city of 237,031 population, which is reported to consume about 27,000,000 quarts of milk per annum. This milk is supplied by over 2,000 producers, from 15 different counties, and is transported to Columbus from a territory having a radius of 35 miles. Conditions appear to be fairly representative of many Middle Western cities.

Keeping Account of Feed Given to Cows Is Necessary to Determine Cost of Producing Milk.

The investigation covered seven companies, which sold about 16,500,000 quarts of milk and cream in 1920, or approximately 65 per cent of the total quantity consumed. The companies ranged in size from a very small one-wagon concern up to the largest, which operated 40 milk routes.

From the point of view of the farmer and the consumer, the important question is, What does it cost to handle the milk from the farm to the consumer? The cost of raw milk was between 63 per cent and 75 per cent of the total cost of the milk as it reaches the consumer.

During the period under study the retail price of Grade A milk in Columbus, as quoted by the dealers investigated, ranged from 15 cents to 14.5 cents per quart, though during 1920 the two small dealers sold their milk, which comes from tuberculin-tested cows, for 15 cents per quart. At the same time the wholesale price of milk ranged from 12 cents to 12½ cents.

The average number of customers per route in 1920 ranged from 169 to 297, and the number of quarts per wagon ranged from 178 to 378, the average being 262. It is noteworthy that the most profitable company was the one having the largest average wagonload.

TEACH YOUNG BULL TO LEAD

Calf Can Be Halter Broken With Little Effort If Taken in Hand at Right Time.

A bull that is to be kept for service should be taught to lead while he is a small calf. He can be halter broken at this time with a few minutes' effort. He should not only be taught to lead without a tight rope, but also should be taught to stand. If given this lesson while young, in after life, when he is led out for visitors to look over or to be photographed, he makes a much better appearance.

Don't Neglect Herd Bull.

Don't neglect the herd bull. Remember he is half the herd and treat him accordingly. This doesn't mean to pamper him, but give him half a chance.

Feeding in the Dark.

Feeding dairy cows without records of their performance is like feeding in the dark.

Keep Clean and Cold.

Keep milk and cream clean and cold it pays in dollars and cents.

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(©, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR AUGUST 21.

PAUL PREPARES FOR WORLD CONQUEST.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:1; 16:5.

GOLDEN TEXT—But we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved.—Acts 15:11.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Gal. 2:11-21; 5:1-26; Eph. 2:4-22.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Some of Paul's Helpers.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Beginning of the Second Missionary Journey.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Revisiting Friends in Asia Minor.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul Champions Christian Liberty.

1. The Controversy in the Church at Antioch (vv. 1-5).

This difficulty was a most serious one, for it threatened the disruption of the church into Jewish and Gentile divisions. It was not a question of the admission of the Gentiles into the church; that had been settled some years before when Peter received Cornelius into his household. The question now is, "On what grounds can they be received? Shall Gentile converts be required to keep the Mosaic law as a condition of salvation?" This issue was brought on by the coming of certain men from Jerusalem who declared, "Except ye be circumcised after the manner of Moses, ye cannot be saved" (v. 1). The question was so difficult that Paul and Barnabas were unable to put them to silence. These Jewish legalists had the letter of the Scriptures on their side; they could point to the commandments where this was enjoined upon believers (Gen. 17:14). Paul could not point to any Scripture where it had been abrogated. If Paul could plead that Abraham was justified before he was circumcised, his antagonist could say, "Yes, but after justification the rite was divinely imposed." The brethren at Antioch decided to refer the matter to the mother church at Jerusalem. Accordingly Paul and Barnabas and others were sent as a deputation to Jerusalem. At an informal reception by the church at Jerusalem they rehearsed the things which God had done for them.

II. The Deliberations of the Council (vv. 6-21).

After some desultory discussion (v. 7), the conference proceeded to serious business.

1. Peter's Speech (vv. 7-11). He argued that God had borne witness to His acceptance of the Gentiles by giving the Holy Spirit to them the same as unto the Jews. Since, therefore, God had not put a difference it would be folly for them to do so. God's action in sending Peter unto them was the unanswerable proof that there was no distinction to be made.

2. Paul and Barnabas rehearse their experience (v. 12). They told how that God had set His seal of approval upon their preaching of salvation by grace through faith apart from works, by the working of signs and wonders through them.

3. The argument of James (vv. 14-21). He took the fact declared by Peter and showed how it harmonized with the prophecy of Amos. He showed that the reception of the Gentiles was not in conflict with God's plan, but in strict harmony therewith. God's plan for the ages is as follows: (1) Taking out from among the Gentiles a people for His name (v. 14). This is what is now going on—the calling out of the church. (2) After the church is completed and removed the Israelitish nation will be converted and restored to their land and privileges by the Lord himself at His return (vv. 16, 17). (3) Following this will be the conversion of the world through the agency of converted Israel (v. 17; cf. Rom. 11: 15) He showed that there is no conflict when the Scriptures are rightly divided. His judgment was that the Gentiles should not be troubled with things that are Jewish, but should be warned against the perils of heathenism, such as meat offered to idols, fornication, and blood.

III. The Decision (vv. 22-29).

The mother church at Jerusalem came to a unanimous agreement and accepted the resolution offered by James. They not only sent a letter stating the decision of the conference, but took the wise precaution to send influential men along with Paul and Barnabas to bear the same testimony by word of mouth. This letter denied the authority of the Judaizing teachers (v. 24), and declared the method by which this decision had been reached (vv. 25-27). They put the Holy Spirit first. The church was called together to hear the report. Its reading brought great rejoicing.

IV. The Second Missionary Journey Begun (15:36; 16:5):

1. Contention over John Mark (vv 36-41). Paul was suspicious of Mark because of his desertion on the former journey. Barnabas took Mark and sailed to Cyprus. Paul chose Silas and went through Syria and Cilicia confirming the churches. The Lord thus overruled it to good, for it gave an opportunity for wider dissemination of the gospel.

2. Finding Timothy (16:1-5). This was at the very place where Paul on his first journey had endured cruel stoning. Timothy was with Paul through much of his work ever afterward, a great blessing to him.

Our Strength and Our Victory.

Our times are disturbed by vast and stupendous problems. On every side the latch is lifting, and the door of opportunity stands ajar. But we shall fail in our day, as other men have failed in their day, unless by faith and experience we enter into the fellowship of our Lord's sufferings, and pray earnestly that the Holy Spirit of God may grant us wisdom and understanding and lead us into all truth. In the power of the Spirit is our strength and our victory.

"Fluke" Kills 20,000 Sheep.

Nearly 20,000 sheep have been killed recently in the Vale of Clwyd, Wales, by a disease known as "fluke," according to a report to the Welsh agricultural council. Experts say the point of attack is in a certain class of snails, and that better drainage of the land is the best precaution against the disease.

Cause of Appendicitis

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.

THAT'S OUR IDEA in making CAMELS—the Quality Cigarette.

Why, just buy Camels and look at the package! It's the best packing science has devised to keep cigarettes fresh and full flavored for your taste. Heavy paper outside—secure foil wrapping inside and the revenue stamp over the end to seal the package and keep it air-tight.

And note this! There's nothing flashy about the Camel package. No extra wrappings that do not improve the smoke. Not a cent of needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco.

Camels wonderful and exclusive Quality wins on merit alone.

Because, men smoke Camels who want the taste and fragrance of the finest tobaccos, expertly blended. Men smoke Camels for Camels smooth, refreshing mildness and their freedom from cigaretty aftertaste.

Camels are made for men who think for themselves.

Jumper Dresses

Just received a second lot of the handsome Jumper Dresses that last week literally went off like "hot cakes"!

These fine Jumpers are bargains for they are made of the best Remi cloth in three colors, blue, tan and green, each piped with white, having 2 large patch pockets and pretty leather belts. They wear long and although really worth $3.00, are selling for the remarkable figure of only . . . $1.98
